Positivity & Well-being

With the disruptive effects of COVID-19 currently dominating our daily lives, it's easy to let negative thoughts and feelings creep in. Concern, fear and stress are natural and normal reactions to the uncertain and changing situation that everyone finds themselves in.

The issue facing each and every one of us is how we manage and react to the stressful situation unfolding so rapidly in our lives and communities. Here we can draw on the remarkable powers of strength and cooperation. It is important that we check on each other and are mindful of and sensitive to the unique mental health needs of those we care for.

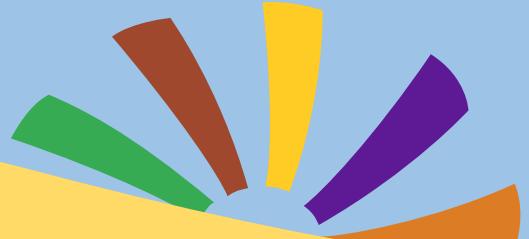

Keeping a positive mindset can go a long way in managing through the difficult time. Having an attitude that looks for the positive and tries to be optimistic can help us filter out some of the constant barrage of discouraging news - the figures of the disease and how it's growing. Holding onto that positive attitude can help us center on things that provide us with what we need to make it through the day.

Living a life with meaning and purpose is key to having a fulfilling one. This could simply mean showing kindness everyday. Doing nice things for other people reminds us that we have the power to make a difference in the world.

As the famous American minister Malcolm X wisely said, "When 'I' is replaced with 'We', even illness becomes wellness."

Inter House English Recitation Competition:

Oh! What a beautiful way to express something through innocent words and actions in a melody with all smiles and giggles. This is what our all tiny scholars of Grade 1 to 5 did on 8th August 2020 with all their confidence and curiosity to stand in front of the camera and say it loudly to mark their presence felt. The children choose a variety of topics for their recitation like nature, trees, flower, mother, family, birds, fruits etc. with a lot of zeal and enthusiasm. A lovely amalgamation of confidence, expression and talent.

International Father's Day:

It is an event to honour the contribution of fathers, acknowledge the efforts of paternal bonds and the role of fathers in our society. It's celebrated on third Sunday of June every year. This year Father's Day was celebrated on 21st of June. Students of Sanskar School tried to make this day really special for their fathers. They did little things like making cards, writing thank you notes to express their love and affection and wrote stories about their fathers. Everyone did their best to make their fathers feel special and they had their own ways to express their love.

Early Years

There's just one world that we all share with plants and animals everywhere. To inculcate the understanding that human beings are caretakers and a part of Flora and Fauna, not merely rulers of the planet, Early Years students learned to take care of the animals and the plants under the theme – Sharing the Planet. Early Years is a place where children develop a sense of respect and caring for the natural environment. They understood the importance of animals and plants in our lives.

During this unit, students of class Vatika inquired into the interdependence of humans and animals on each other. They learned about the animals around us, their habitat, food, babies and sounds. They also came to know about things we get from animals and how we should take care of them.

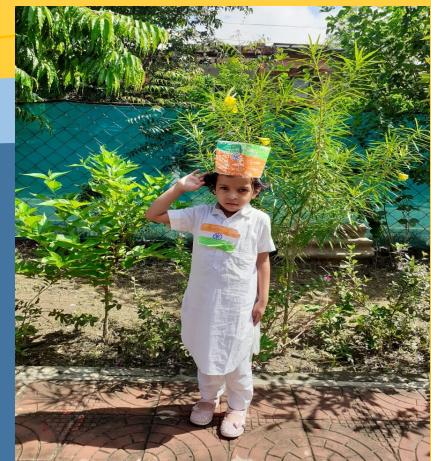

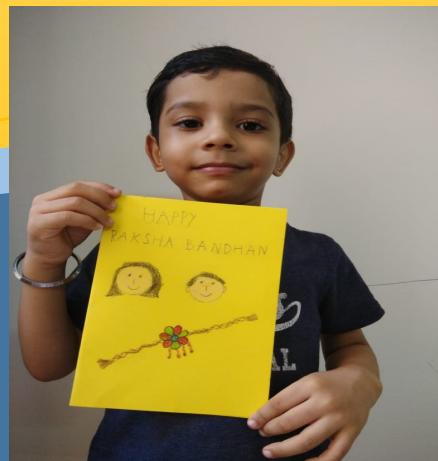

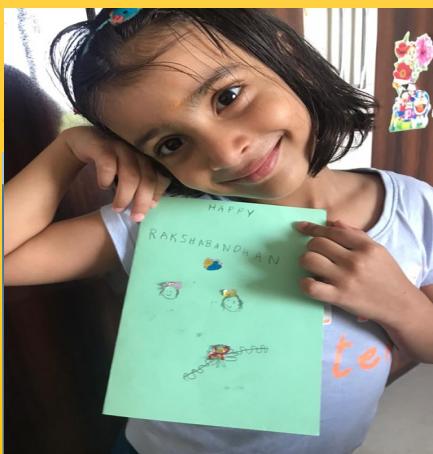

In class Praveshika, students inquired about different types of plants, Importance of plants and the ways to take care of them. As a part of their action, they also sowed seeds in small pots to understand the process of germination and observed the growth of their plants. They learned to take care of their plants by watering it daily.

Some of them also inquired about it by visiting construction sites. They explored the properties of building materials by conducting experiments. They developed understanding about structure (types of roof) of houses and the materials used in different climatic conditions for constructing a house. They were able to reason out why certain materials / structure are used in particular type of house and climatic conditions. They became aware about the changes in structure of houses over time through class discussion and flow chart.

Story sessions facilitated the language learning.

Learners have successfully inquired into TD Theme – How we organize ourselves. During this time of virtual classes our children have shown their interest in online sessions and they enthusiastically participated in all the activities. We together traverse the TD Theme under the central idea, “Public places establish connection and sense of community”.

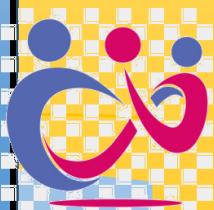

Learners explored different public places through virtual trips and the inquiry was conducted through brainstorming questions like... the way public places look like, what makes them different from each other (characteristics)?, why do we need them?, how does their existence help us to grow together as a community (purpose)?, our responsibilities towards them (responsibility).

The learners exhibited their understanding sharing the planet through drawing, writing and interactions. Various attributes of Learner Profile like caring, responsible was exhibited by the end of the unit.

The theme-How The World Works, started with the super exited learners going on a virtual trip to Amazon Rainforest. They were able to identify the diversity of flora and fauna present on the planet earth. It was wonderful to see the students demonstrating their research and communication skills while they researched on the components of earth and the variety of plants and animals found in different habitats and recognize the importance of biodiversity. They became Inquirers and Communicators when they shared their research work with their peers in the class.

They were aware about the positive and negative impact of human actions on the environment and displayed the attribute caring while they suggested ways to preserve the biodiversity in nature. They pledged to support biodiversity conservation by educating people around them and taking small initiatives at community level to create awareness about the sustainable development and human well being as it plays an important role in preserving the biodiversity across the world. We hope that the learning experiences of the students will help to develop an understanding that it is critical to protect the environment so as to reduce the destruction of ecosystems caused by a myriad of anthropogenic activities.

Under the theme How We Express Ourselves, the learners of Grade V availed an opportunity to understand “literature provides a window into beliefs, values and culture”. The learners became knowledgeable by learning about different forms of literature and genres. They used their thinking skills to pick the information and insight from different stories and poems. The virtual visit to Sanskar School Library and the interactive session with Dr Jitender Rathore were new milestones for these young learners to understand the importance of books in every person’s life. A session by Mrs Anjali Pareek, our Librarian was a step to make them principled by understanding the significance of Academic Honesty and applying it in their work. A healthy habit of reading was inculcated in the students and it was evident through their reading record. They also recognized that every individual has a personal choice in reading as well as writing. The genre review and story mapping provided a platform to the students to assess their knowledge about literature. They also explored the biographies of famous players and musicians. They enhanced their language by designing their own story or poem. Overall this theme was a great learning experience and opened new avenues for these budding readers and writers.

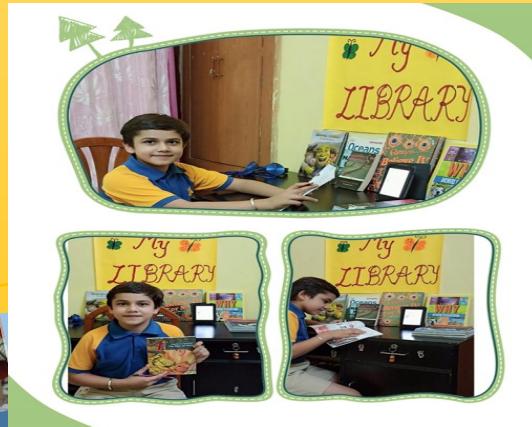

We are truly knowledgeable:-
